

Formy — The Drag & Drop Form Builder That Actually Makes Sense

Welcome to Formy, a modern, intuitive form builder platform created for developers, designers, agencies — and frankly, anyone who wants to create beautiful, functional forms without writing a single line of code.

Built from scratch with precision, pixels, and passion, Formy combines live previews, a custom drag-and-drop engine, and a workspace you'll love living in.

About the Project

Formy is a full-stack form creation platform where users can:

- ✓ Sign up and manage their account
- ✓ Create multiple forms in a clean, distraction-free workspace
- ✓ Add form elements like inputs, buttons, headers, and file uploads
- ✓ Drag and drop everything in real-time with zero reloads
- ✓ See a live preview of the form as it's being built
- ✓ Publish forms and share them with the world (or clients) via a unique URL

We believe form-building should be as smooth as writing a message — so Formy offers clarity, simplicity, and a little creative chaos when needed.

About the Developer

Hi! I'm Anas Siddiqui — a full-stack web developer, someone who thinks software should be both powerful and fun to use.

I made Formy because most form builders either lack flexibility or feel like an Excel sheet in disguise. This is my way of saying: form-building can be awesome.

I'm building Formy with:

- ☕ 80% caffeine
- 🧠 15% curiosity
- 💔 5% refactoring-induced suffering
- 💬 and a lot of feedback from people like you.

Contributing / Feedback

Right now, Formy is a private project, but I'm totally open to suggestions, feedback, and kind words.

Spotted a bug? Have a killer feature idea? Hit us up at any of the emails above, and you might just see your idea shipped in the next update (with credit!).
